

black tie Premier Jet

Ahhh ... to fly the friendly skies, which, let's face it, are way friendlier when you're flying them in a luxe private jet. Premier Jet has just launched its air charter services at McClellan-Palomar Airport, promising customers "impeccable, white-gloved service." Translation? Take your pick from a fleet of 20-plus private aircraft — offering on-demand availability 24 hours a day. Fly directly to destinations not accessible by commercial airlines, bypassing all the associated headaches such as long airport lines, security hassles, layovers and downtime. Take advantage of personalized concierge services, from dinner and hotel reservations to scheduling a tee time for you and the boys. Just earned your pilot license? Premier Jet will spoil you with its flight support services, which include detailing your (air) ride, flight planning, fueling and weather status. As for any other details to make sure your experience is seamless, newly appointed head of air charter sales Michele Rosa and general manager Craig Foster are literally at your service. "Premier Jet's air charter services came as a result of repeated request by our existing client base of discriminating customers," says Foster. "With Michele's arrival, we will continue the highest level possible in services and safety standards to our new air charter customers." Just make sure your seat is in the upright position before take-off.
